LAWYER'S LOVE IS TOLD IN LETTERS

Now Miss Olga Landsdorff, the Actress, Says She Will Produce Them in Her Breach of Promise Suit.

MR. OLDS DECLARES THAT HE WAS JILTED.

Since Then He Has Been Married to a Handsome Widow, Who Is Said to Be His Junior by Thirty Years.

A case on the calendar of the United ates Circuit Court that attracted more attention than any other called for trial to-day was that of Miss Olga Landsdorff, whose stage name when was with the Strollers was Olga La Fond, against Franklin Marcellus Olds. a lawyer, fifty-two years old, for $25,000 for breach of promise.

Miss Landsdorff is said to be a niece of Baron De Neuville, of the Russian nobility.

A feature of the case is the love let ters that Lawyer Olds is alleged to have written the plaintiff while she was here and abroad at the time their engagement was announced. Mr. Olds's efense is that the plaintiff filted him. He has since married another, and the papers in the present suit were served on him while he was being married in Lyric Hall to Miss Agnese Aprille, who comes of a wealthy and respected Italian family. Mrs. Olds and the plaintiff in the suit are both beautiful and thirty years the lawyer's junior. Collector of Art Treasures.

Mr. Olds formerly practised law at No. 762 High street. Newark. His first wife left him about $100,000. After her death he travelled a good deal and collected many valuable art treasures. In the fall of 1901 he announced that he was going to sell his library and the art collection. His first wife's relatives then had a receiver appointed for the estate. It was about this time that Miss Landsdorff instructed her lawyer to be-gin the present action. In her affldavit she says that she met the defendant at Long Branch in 1899 and that he paid her marked attention and showed a decided preference for her company. When she came to this city Olds, according to the complaint, followed her and, in February, 1900, proposed marriage and

The Telltale Letters. Then follow the letters that Miss Landsdorff says she received from Olds and which are signed Frank. The first one begins with: "My dear, sweet child," and says:

"I do not want you to scold me, but I am going this afternoon to see Mr. and Mrs. Ashlon. They are your relatives and nice people. . . Three more bodies have been taken out and another discovered in the ruins of the Hotel Darlington, bringing the death list up to twenty-one. The fourth of these bodies will be taken out to-day, it being so covered with fron and masonry that it was impossible for workmen to reach it yesterday. It is now believed the number of dead will be nearer thirty than twenty-five by the time the ruins have been thor-

MERCURY A POOR CRUTCH.

Experience is a dear teacher, as those who pin their faith to Mercury find out sooner or later. This pow-erful poison combined with Potash, is the treatment gen-erally prescribed for Contagious Blood Poison, but failure and disappointment is the invariable result. These minerals drive in the sores and eruptions, and apparently the disease is gone and the patient believes the cure permanent, but soon learns better when the old symptoms return almost as soon as the treatment is left off. You must either keep the system saturated with mercury or endure the tortures of sore mouth, ulcerated throat and the mortification that one naturally feels when the body is covered with disgusting sores, rashes, copper-colored splotches and other aggravating symptoms of this vile disease.

Mercury and Potash are poor crutches, and their use eventually breaks down the onstitution, ruins the digestion and cause the bones to decay.
